RoboVent Featured in Business in Focus Magazine

The September 2015 issue of Business in Focus Magazine featured a six-page spread on RoboVent titled "A Breath of Fresh Air."

From the article...

Long gone are the days of dust-choked factories and soot covered manufacturing staff, an improvement driven by advances in air filtration, dust collection and clean air technologies.

Manufacturing environments have changed immensely over the last five decades. As much of the industry has made the shift towards automation, the potential, but also the hazards of manual labor have transformed. On the manufacturing floor of the twenty-first century, safety and cleanliness are key, and this is where RoboVent comes in.
